Dear Doug Folk:

With the recent passing of Bill 180, the Government of Saskatchewan will be transferring gas and electrical licensing services from the Ministry of Government Relations (GR) to the Technical Safety Authority of Saskatchewan (TSASK) as of Tuesday, August 4, 2020.

To prevent delays in the processing of gas and electrical license approvals and renewals, please have your organization and its members update their contact information from the ministry to:

Technical Safety Authority of Saskatchewan

Office/Mailing Address: 2202 2nd Avenue
REGINA SK S4R 1K3

Toll-free number: 1-866-530-8599

Email: gelifensing@tsask.ca

Website: www.tsask.ca

Any correspondence or renewals concerning gas and electrical licensing received by GR after August 4th will be forwarded to TSASK for response.

The transfer of these services is just one part of a larger initiative to centralize all technical safety services, which was announced on December 13, 2018 (see <https://www.saskatchewan.ca/government/news-and-media/2018/december/13/tsask>).

Streamlining these technical safety services will consolidate client-facing services into a single point of contact at TSASK, reducing red tape for both businesses and citizens. This initiative will also consolidate all related legislative, regulatory and policy functions into a single interface between TSASK and GR.

Thank you for your interest in the transfer of technical safety services to TSASK. Your dedication and support for public safety in Saskatchewan helps contribute to a growing and thriving province.

Sincerely,
